

Buyer Committee Map

Multi-stakeholder institutional deals — primarily Digital Cash, sometimes large Pay by Bank — close only when each committee role gets the right pitch. This document maps roles to priorities and to the pitch angle that lands with each.

When this framework applies

- Always for Digital Cash. Buying committee is wide by default.
- Often for Pay by Bank deals at enterprise merchants (£100M+ payment volume) where Finance, Risk, Compliance, and Engineering each have a veto.
- Rarely for Stablecoin Factory own-programme deals — these usually have 2–4 technical decision-makers, not a formal committee. (Partner-Led and White-Label motions can be wider.)

The institutional buying committee — Digital Cash baseline

This framework maps roles, priorities, and veto power. The buyer-specific pitch angles (lead-with lines, what to show, what to avoid) live in one place only: `Brain/Personas/Sales-Digital-Cash/CLAUDE.md §8 Play 4` — pull them from there, never from a copy. (Consolidated 2026-06-11: this file previously duplicated the pitch angles with drift.)

ROLE	THEIR PRIORITY	VETO POWER
Executive Sponsor (CFO, COO, Chief Digital Officer)	Strategic narrative, peer-positioning, board defensibility, multi-year commitment	Ultimate. Without an exec sponsor identified, the deal does not close — it stays a discussion forever.
Head of Treasury	Liquidity, reserve management, FX, intraday settlement, capital efficiency	High — Treasury holds the operational P&L on settlement.
Head of Transaction Banking / Head of Payments	Settlement model, cross-border efficiency, customer-facing impact, payment-rail strategy	Significant — owns the rail decision.
Chief Compliance Officer / MLRO	Regulatory framing, AML/KYC hooks, sanctions screening, audit trail, regulator-readiness	Effectively unlimited. A compliance "no" ends the deal, regardless of executive enthusiasm.
General Counsel	Legal structure, contract terms, indemnification, IP, dispute resolution	High on terms — wants clarity, not enthusiasm.
Risk Committee / Chief Risk Officer	Failure modes, vendor risk, operational risk, regulatory risk	High — vendor-risk sign-off required.

ROLE	THEIR PRIORITY	VETO POWER
CIO / CTO	Integration burden, tech stack fit, scalability, security	High on feasibility — technical fit before commercial framing.

How to use the map

Before a workshop or multi-stakeholder meeting

1. Identify which committee roles will be in the room.
2. For each, pre-write a 90-second pitch in their language using the matching cell above.
3. Identify which one is the Executive Sponsor. If you don't have one, the meeting should be about finding one, not selling.

During the meeting

If three or more committee roles are present, the meeting is a workshop, not a pitch. Facilitate. Each role wants to hear their priority addressed by name. Skipping treasury to talk to the CTO loses you treasury's vote — and treasury has veto.

Rule of thumb

If you don't know which committee role you're talking to in any given moment, ask: "Help me understand — does this question come from the operational side or the risk/governance side? I want to make sure I give you the right level of detail."

Pay by Bank — enterprise variant

For Pay by Bank deals at large merchants (£100M+ volume), expect:

- Payments Operations Lead (primary) — operational fit, integration, exception handling
- Head of Payments / Director of Payments — rails strategy, vendor consolidation, roadmap
- CFO / Finance Director — cost savings in their language, predictability, EBITDA impact
- COO / Payment Ops Director — chargeback burden, dispute handling time, FTE load
- Risk / Fraud Lead — VAMP exposure, dispute exposure
- CTO / Eng Lead — integration burden, sandbox
